LETTER OF INTENT

FIBAA (Foundation of International Business Administration Accreditation) and AQAAN (Arab Quality Assurance and Accreditation Network) have concluded that collaboration between the institutions could be mutually beneficial. Through this collaboration AQAAN would gain access to information on the international quality assurance and accreditation of economics, business administration, management, social sciences and law programmes and institutions (e.g., quality standards, evaluation procedures, and consulting processes), and would be able to offer its clients respective services in all countries of the Arab territories.

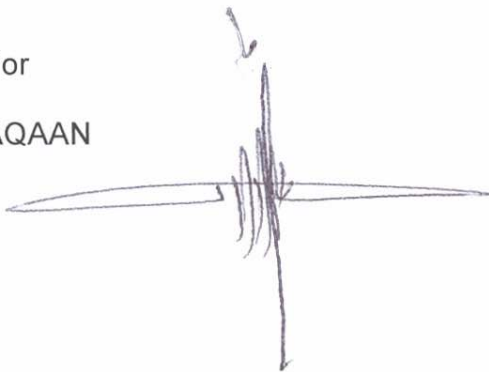

FIBAA and AQAAN propose to work together on the wording of a Collaboration Agreement for final signature of both parties by July 18, 2007. Failing such agreement, this intention to create collaboration shall terminate.
